

-----Calling all Species Identification Experts-----

This August & September, Vancouver Lake and potentially Westmoreland Park are hosting a Bio-Blitz as part of a region-wide, on-going series and are looking for a variety of plant-animal-bird-insect-dragonfly-amphibian-fungi (and anything/everything else) identification experts to lead groups of up to 10 community members on quests to ID as many species as possible. Time shifts are flexible based on your availability, and you have the opportunity to be trained in using the iNaturalist app, a worldwide species inventory database, to quickly and easily store ID information. The Portland Regional Eco-Blitz Series aims to build collective capacity among you all as local ID experts, and introduce youth to the world of science and exploration.

Please indicate below your interest and availability.

Name:

Organization:

Email:

Species to ID:

ID Skill Level (1 st listed):	amateur	proficient	expert
ID Skill Level (2 nd listed, if applicable):	amateur	proficient	expert
ID Skill Level (3 rd listed, if applicable):	amateur	proficient	expert

Please check those weekends that you are available for a couple of hours (times & shifts vary):

Aug 23rd @ Westmoreland Park

Sept 26th @ Vancouver Lake

Preference in working with youth? (Y/N):

When finished, or if there are questions, please email Shawn_James@partner.nps.gov

Thank you,

Shawn James
Rivers, Trails and Conservation Assistance
National Park Service
shawn_james@partner.nps.gov
(c) 503.808.6724
www.nps.gov/rtca